Our motto: the beach in the morning, chess in the evening

- Data protection: We only ask for details needed to plan the tournament as provided by the German Chess Federation and FIDE. Providing your telephone number or email is on a voluntary basis, but this will help in case of last minute changes.

All participants must have a FIDE ID. Tournament registrations with FIDE require full name, correct date of birth, and registered nationality (=Ger)

All tournament data for ratings will be passed onto the German Chess Federation and FIDE. We do not supply details to Facebook or Google.
- Media: Tournament reports will be published in chess publications, the local newspaper, and on the internet (possibly with photos). Personal privacy cannot be guaranteed there.
- Other details: Both players must record their moves until the end of the game. Both players must submit their scoresheets after the game to validate results. Players may keep the second copy.

Pairings for subsequent rounds will be made (Swiss-Chess) after the end of the previous round and published on the internet. Cancellations must be confirmed with the arbiter before the pairings are made.
- Catering: Alcohol-free drinks are included within the entrance fee. Non-playing family members, friends or support crew can also apply for this soft drink tariff. Bringing your own food or drink to the venue is not permitted!
- Consent: We require the consent of all participants. By registering for the tournament, participants thereby signal their agreement to the conditions listed here.
- Disclaimer: The tournament organisers accept no liability for participants or visitors. Participation is at your own risk. The tournament directors' decisions are final. There is no right of appeal. Any recourse to courts of law is excluded.
